REMARKS IN GENERAL

We practice crop rotation to maintain disease-free stock. Our 120,000 cubic feet of storage space is disinfected as often as necessary. Every year the entire bulb crop is removed from field and stored inside. Complete new crop is planted each spring. We do not ship bulbs that have been in the field year after year. Each bulb is from a new crop and fresh stock. We have controlled irrigation to produce the desired crop, assuring customer of a dependable source of supply.

GROWING INSTRUCTIONS

Plant in the spring as soon as the ground warms in prepared soil of average-to-good fertility, 4 inches deep, 8 inches apart. Phosphate is best fertilizer. In case of insect attacks, spray or dust as any other plant. In south half of U. S. (after half, cut tops off and cover bulbs with tops). North half, cut tops off and store in frost-proof storage; in spring divide into 2 or 3 eye bulbs.

Beautiful Everblooming Cannas Are Easy To Grow

Cannas are easy to grow. They bloom continuously from early summer until frost. They are becoming very popular in the American Flower Garden. They can be grown successfully in all parts of the nation.
